Lookin' Around with 'Mac'

Official arrival of summer this week was the signal for us to crank up the jeep for another family excursion through the wonderland of woods and streams. Weather couldn't be better for full enjoyment of life in the out-of-doors. And there is something about warm sunshine, fresh air, a stimulating swim in cold water, a tasty picnic lunch, and a foot-free hike in the pines to give one a fresh grip on life, a new energy to attack the problems of living.

We find with genuine pleasure that some Nugget readers like our excursions-in-print, that they find our simple paragraphs good enough to clip and send on to friends and relatives for a partial description of the country in which we live. I must apologize to those trusting folk for prose that is inadequate, for observation that is much too cursory, for an understanding that is too meagre. But if I can write with enthusiasm about the little things we see when we go Lookin' Around perhaps the feeling will do you as much good as it does me and my family.

Before we go on with our trip, let me digress for another moment to suggest that the greatest enjoyment to be derived from trips to points of interest is in the companionship of a family group. Some of our greatest naturalists—John Muir was one—were men who rambled the mountains and woods alone and at ease. But I suspect they were unusual men who found easy companionship with wild animals and adapted themselves instinctively to nature. Most of us do not have that genius. The enjoyment of good things may be infinitely multiplied if shared with loved ones. In fact, I'll let you, my reader, in on a little secret: I enjoy my little excursions much more in knowing that I can go back to my typewriter and let you feel at least part of my enthusiasm.

Now the trip. Of course, we went to North Can Juan last Sunday. The rated population (125) of our little neighbor to the north was already tripled when we arrived before noon. Floats parked in yards were getting their final touches, bright-shirted riders were giving their mounts a final brushing down. There was that air of noisy expectancy and sweaty confusion which makes the small-town festival dear to the heart of every American.

I mean no disrespect when I suggest that the parade was pure corn. But corn is also a dear element in our makeup . . . we love it. We loved Ed Kohler's corny remarks over the speaker system, we were properly amused when a drunk almost ripped the doors off the public privy, we were taken back to boyhood by the horsy smell, the dust kicked up by romping boys, the proud hospitality of local citizens on their big show day.

Partly to get better pictures but mostly because of pure curiosity, Dow Alexander and I climbed to the top of the ancient firebell tower. We had a fine view. And on examination we found that the old cast-iron bell which is still in use as a fire-alarm was cast in 1846. San Juan folks have a priceless antique hanging in full public view.

Leaving North San Juan's Cherry Festival (symbolized by two crates of imported Bings) we drove on north along that wonderful 13-mile stretch of federal project highway. It's a fine scenic route and smooth going until you reach the short under-construction piece where Depot Hill drops to the North Yuba. At the North Yuba bridge, we turned left on the Indian Valley road, a one-

The three low bids were turned over to T. J. Hanley and E. L. Graham of the staff of Headman, Ferguson and Carolla, Phoenix, Ariz., who will send the bids to the main office for checking. The bids will be returned as soon as possible to be submitted to the council for decision and award of contract.

The bids are expected back within a week and Mayor Thomas H. Taylor will reconvene the council on call for the final action of awarding the contract.

In one other action taken last Tuesday the council appointed H. J. Ray, retired rear admiral of the U. S. navy, to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Leo Cullen.

PICTURE OF N. COLUMBIA BAND IS GIVEN MUSEUM

Dan McKellips, a retired Southern Pacific engineer, making his home in Oakland, has sent the Nevada County Historical Museum a set of pictures copied from old prints.

Being an ardent enthusiast for the towns of North Columbia and North Bloomfield, the pictures include scenes from both. North Columbia once had a band and in it appears a little boy who often got himself into the center of things—George Calanan. These pictures may be found in the multiplex on the second floor of the museum.

The Nevada County Historical Society would like to obtain pictures of the Narrow Gauge engines, numbers 3, 4 and 6. They would appreciate the loan of such prints and these may be left with the museum custodians. They will be returned to the owners after copies are made.

Ninety-three persons visited the museum last weekend. From out of state were Linnie Mills, Colorado Springs, Colo.; Cleo Heavener, Springville, Utah; Mrs. C. B. Quinn, Salt Lake City, Utah; Mr. and Mrs. George Putnik, Tooele, Utah; E. L. Head, Santa Rita, N. M.; Gene Kipp and family, Nampa, Idaho; Mrs. A. C. Douglass and Virtown J. Douglass, Seattle, Wash.

The museum, located at 214 Main street, Nevada City, will be open tomorrow and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Miss Gertrude Goyne and Mrs. R. E. Harris are custodians.

FIRE FIGHTER TRAINEES BATTLE ACTUAL FLAMES IN TAHOE FOREST CLASS

Fire fighter trainees of Tahoe national forest's fire suppression crews fought actual fires set specially for various conditions Tuesday in forest fire fighting maneuvers near Hobart Mills.

More than 75 forest service officials and suppression crewmen participated in the annual fire control meeting which lasted Monday through yesterday.

The trainees fought one-man and crew-size fires set in various types of typical forest vegetation.

After the trainees had the fires under a declared control, officials criticized or credited tactics of the participants.

Keith Macdonald, fire control officer of the forest, was in charge of the overall direction of the training camp. Field operations and instruction were under the direction of E. E. Boehm, fire control officer of Truckee district, and William Curran, assistant fire control officer of Truckee district.

Participants in the training program were quartered in a mock fire camp on the site of an abandoned CCC camp near Hobart Mills. The camp was set up under typical large fire conditions, with facilities for meals, first aid, sanitation, sleeping and supplies.

C. E. Everhart, administrative assistant, acted as master of ceremonies at a visitors' night program Tuesday which began with fried chicken served from the camp kitchen.

Marvin Shock, forest engineer, and Leslie Land, road foreman, were presented 20-year service awards from the department of agriculture.

The four-day training camp instruction included administration, radio operation, fire line construction, principles of management, use of fire control notebooks, large fire organization and analyses of large fire overhead positions.

CHILDREN'S PARADE

Doll buggies and coaster wagons were being converted into covered wagons and floats this week as Nevada county children began preparations for the children's parade to be held Saturday, July 1, in conjunction with the Fourth fo July Centennial Celebration.

Application blanks for the parade, being presented by the Nevada City Elementary Parent-Teachers association, are available at either The Nugget or the Union office.

G. V. FURNITURE CENTER IS TOTAL LOSS IN FLAMES

Fire insurance adjusters are expected to determine the full extent of damage today to a fire that late Tuesday night destroyed the Jensen and Thomas building in Grass Valley housing the Furniture Center.

Preliminary estimates place the loss to the Furniture Center at $30,000 and damage to the building at $20,000.

The blaze was discovered late Tuesday about 11:30 o'clock by a passer-by and had gained such headway by the time the firemen arrived that little could be done beyond preventing spread of the flames. Fire smouldered until 5 o'clock the next morning.

All available men and equipment were used to combat the fierce blaze as the flames ripped through highly inflammable linoleum and mattress stores.

Origin of the fire is undetermined at present although Elton Williams, fire chief, believes it started in the rear of the main store.

The firemen broke the large plate glass front windows and the resulting draft increased the intensity of the flames. There were na casulaties among the firemen, except a minor injury suffered by Victor Tamietti when a nozzle whacked him in the nose.

The building was constructed about 15 years ago by Nels Jensen and W. P. Thomas who operated a furniture store in the building until five years ago at which time C. C. Rogers leased the building for the Furniture Center. William Rogers, son of C. C. Rogers, had been managing the store. Rogers said office records escaped the blaze.

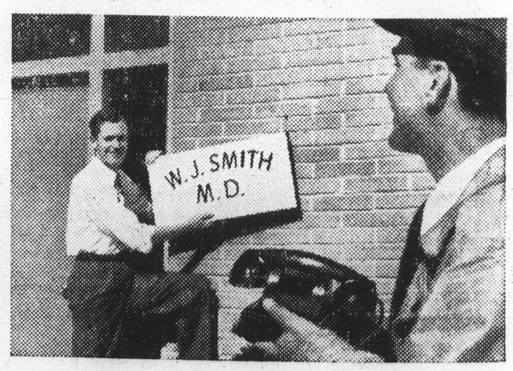
The new telephones put in daily mean more value for all. You can reach more people...more can reach you.

HE'S MAKING YOUR TELEPHONE A BETTER BARGAIN

How your service grows more useful as we add new telephones

1. In the ten busiest years we ever had, the West's population jumped more than fifty per cent. Telephone service grew even faster . . . the number of telephones at work in the West has doubled. And we built this new system in the face of inflated postwar costs...for we can't, in contrast with most businesses, defer the addition of plant just because the cost is high.

3. As a part of a bigger system, your telephone is a bigger value today...particularly when you consider the low rates you pay for service. Long distance telephone rates actually decreased between 1940 and 1946. And, while the increases in local and long distance rates since 1946 vary, the average for the territory we serve has been only 27 per cent. Your telephone still gives you a big value for your budget dollar. It's one of today's best bargains.



2. You may never call this particular telephone... but it's pretty certain you will want to call or hear from some of the telephones we're adding. As the West grows, new people come into your town . . . others move their homes and businesses . . . so it is necessary for us to do our best to keep pace with the growth of your community to make sure you can call whom you want, when you want.

TUNNELS OF AREA ARE PROPOSED STORAGE SPACE FOR MILITARY

Use of the abandoned mine tunnels of the area as subterranean storage space for military material was suggested at a recent meeting of the city council by H. J. Ray, retired rear admiral, and newly appointed city councilman.

Ray pointed out that if the tunnels are in good condition they would be ideal for storage of strategic material and added the government is paying considerable money for subterranean storage.

George H. Calanan, city clerk, said much of the tunneling under Nevada City is through solid rock and is practically indestructible.

Hal Boyle, nationally famous columnist, recently wrote a column about the vast tunnelings under Butte as a possible hiding place from atom bomb attack in any future wars.

Although the city council did not discuss the possibilities of using the abandoned mines as factory sites, the practice was used extensively by the Germans in the last war, particularly in the Austrian Alps.

The council did discuss possibility of inducing some of the nation's smaller strategic industries to locate here.

Ray suggested the city write the secretary of defense for information on the national industry disbursement plan.

COURTHOUSE BEING REMODELED TO HOUSE WELFARE DEPARTMENT

Painters are expected to move into the office of the county welfare department today to finish the remodeling of the room in the courthouse, according to Director George S. Lowry.

Construction of a mezzanine floor in the office comprises the remodelling and will enlarge the floor capacity of the office by about 60 percent.

Remodeling of the office was authorized by the board of supervisors after board members expressed their belief the $240 monthly rental paid by the state for the Commercial street office was out of line.

Lowry said office furniture is to be installed next week and the room should be ready for occupancy by June 30, when the financial responsibility of the welfare program will revert to the county.

The remodelling opens up the possibility of enabling the county to increase the floor space of the entire courthouse should a future increase of work load warrant it.

DIAMOND DRILL TESTS ON ASBESTOS PROPERTY

Asbestos mining property on the south fork of the Yuba river, three miles south of Washington, has been leased by Estey A. Julian, Oakland, according to Superior Court Judge James Snell, one of the owners of the property. Judge Snell said Julian will begin diamond drilling on the property within a few weeks and if it proves feasible a large scale mining company will be formed to put the mine into production.

The mine contains quantities of high quality abestos fiber called chrysetile which is used in the manufacture of fire-proof suits and other fire-resistant products.

The deposit in Nevada county is one of few deposits in the U.S. with possibilities of development, Judge Snell said.

Owners of the property are Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Stark, Oakland; Miss Genevieve Smith, San Leandro, and Judge Snell. Miss Smith is a daughter of Frank T. Smith, former tailor of Nevada City.

TROUT PLANTING BY AIR IS UNDERWAY

California division of fish and game this week launched the nation's most ambitious aerial fish planting mission.

In the next two months the division will drop 1,639,000 rainbow and brook trout in 373 lakes of the Sierra Nevadas.

Flying a twin-engined plane, Warden-Pilots Al Reese and Carrol Faist will release fingerlings in waters ranging from Siskiyou county to Inyo. The plane is capable of carrying up to 25,000 fish each trip.

Tests have proven fish can be safely dropped from elevations up to 800 feet.

Sixty-four lakes of this area are included in the aerial planting program.

NATIONAL GUARD UNIT LEAVES TOMORROW FOR SUMMER CAMP SESSION

Three officers and 63 enlisted men of Company C, 184th Infantry Regiment, California National Guard, will depart tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock for two weeks of active duty at summer camp at Camp San Luis Obispo.

Lieutenant John Bunch, commanding officer, announced all men and officers have been ordered to report at the temporary armory at Nevada City high school. The company will travel by bus to Marysville where they will entrain for San Luis Obispo.

The company will return to Nevada City Sunday, July 9.

ETCHING IS STOLEN FROM CENTRAL HOUSE

Max Lantz, proprietor of the Central House, on highway 20 east of here, will probably be very careful in the future about who he invites in to see his etchings.

Saturday night three men and two women, by means of a diversionary action, purloined his etching of Nevada City in the early days and sped off in a big black sedan.

Lantz didn't indicate the value of the etching.

PROPER JUVENILE DETENTION FACILITIES URGED BY JURIST

Condemnation of present juvenile detention facilities as an "inaccessable fire trap which has been condemned twice by the local fire department," and need for a juvenile detention home was strongly urged by James Snell, Nevada county superior court judge, in a talk before the Nevada City Rotary club at the National hotel last week.

"The jail we have in Nevada county is not the proper place to put any boy or any girl—particularly any girl," Judge Snell declared.

Under present arrangements, juveniles awaiting hearing or commitment are detained in the county jail. Judge Snell said the California Youth Authority is unable to take juveniles immediately upon commitment and it is often necessary to detain them in the local jail for several weeks.

Judge Snell pointed out that there is only one way to the third floor of the jail where women and girls are detained and "there is no way to get out in case of fire. Under these conditions the administration of the county jail becomes an intricate part of the administration of juvenile justice."

Judge Snell related that of the 100 cases processed in juvenile court during his three and a half years on the bench, 50 were trial cases, of which 17 were committed. He stated he realized the court has been criticized for not putting more of the boys in reform schools, but added "We turn these young persons loose on probation because we think that something can be done for them."

"All I ask today in the enforcement of juvenile laws of the county is the cooperation of all men and women of Nevada county who want to see a successful program in the rehabilitation of our young people carried out," Judge Snell added.

George W. Gildersleeve, justice of peace of Nevada township, and Thomas Barrett, probation officer, appeared with Judge Snell, who was guest of Robert Schiffner, local attorney, and program chairman for the meeting.

Reynolds, fifth district.

THE SONG THE SIRENS SING

Remember the story of the Sirens? They sang of their trouble-free paradise—but their alluring promises led unwary sailors straight onto the rocks.

There are Sirens around today, too — singing their soothing song: "Unload your responsibilities on the government's shoulders. Give the government control of this industry—and that service—and your worries are over!"

What they don't sing is the next verse: "When your responsibilities go, your freedoms go with them—for that is how a nation's government becomes socialistic."

Don't think it can't happen in America. Right here, right now, some people are saying: "Let the government take over the doctors, the railroads, the electric light and power companies."

Oddly enough, many who say such things—like most American's don't really want a socialistic U. S. But the result is the same. When a government controls enough industries and services, it is socialistic—whether the people approve or not!

Each time government gains another control, people lose another freedom. As an American, you have more rights and freedoms to guard—or to lose—than anyone else. Remember that when you hear the sirens' song.

And talk it over with your friends and neighbors. The threat of a socialistic America is everyone's problem—because it is everyone's danger!—scissored.

HOW TO SPEND A WEEK FISHING

We don't know whether this would be applicable to other types of livelihoods but it's a good idea for the weekly newspaper publisher, particularly on weeks when ambition wanes and discouragement waxes. Anyway it tickled our funnybone.

A Montana publisher was inordinately fond of fishing. In fact, he'd high-tail it out of the office and up to the nearby lake the moment the paper was out on Thursday.

Came a weekend when the moon, water and bait were just right, and the fish bit so fast and furiously that he just couldn't tear himself away from the spot Sunday, Monday, or Tuesday . . . or Wednesday.

But on Thursday he awoke with a start to the enormity of his sin. Here it was press day and not the first lick hit on the paper. Frantically he threw his tackle into the boat, speedily rowed to where he had parked his car, and returned to town, his mind meanwhile outracing the car.

When he got to the shop, his worst fears were confirmed. Judging from the empty bottles lying around, his lone printer and general aide had been on his annual spree. And the bookkeeper-local reporter, would, of course, have fled the moment the printer hit the bottle.

The publisher glanced at the untouched forms from the previous Thursday, and broke down and wept bitterly.

Then out of bleak desperation flashed a brilliant idea.

It took but a moment to set a line of type in 24-point boldface, which he inserted above the head on the front page before trundling the forms to the press:

HOW TO PAY YOUR BILLS

"Sir:

"In reply to your request to send a check, I wish to inform you that the present condition of my bank account makes it almost impossible. My shattered financial condition is due to federal laws, state laws, county laws, corporation laws, brother-in-laws, mother-in-laws, sister-in-laws and outlaws.

"Through these laws I am compelled to pay a business tax, amusement tax, head tax, school tax, gas tax, carpet tax, income tax, food tax, furniture tax and excise tax. Even my brains are taxed. I am required to get a business license, car license, hunting and fishing license.

"I am also required to contribute to every society and organization which the genius of man is capable of bringing to life; to women's relief, the unemployment relief, the gold digger's relief. Also to every hospital and charitable institution in the city, including the black cross, purple cross and double cross.

"My business is so governed it is no easy matter for me to find out who owns it. I am inspected, expected, suspected, disrespected, rejected, dejected, examined, reexamined, informed, required, summoned, fined.

"I can tell you honestly that except for a miracle that happened, I could not enclose this check. The wolf that comes to many doors just had pups in my kitchen. I sold them and here is the money."—scissored.

Just Won't Stay Buried

Just Wonderin'

I Wonder at the things we do,
When pleasure smiles at us and calls,
Sometimes we scale a lofty hill,
Or loll beside a waterfall;
We seek the joys of carnivals
Or just take in a baseball game,
Oh, yes, we quickly do respond
When pleasure calls our name.

"Seems to me," said a serious minded man, "that I have never witnessed so much enthusiasm about ball games as we are seeing this year." I couldn't refute his semi-assertion, but when he asked the reason, I said, "No wonder." People in this big nation of ours are fed up with sour subjects. They hear too much—much too much about wars and rumors of wars, communism and ghastly investigations. News casters, news analysts, newspapers, etc., offer no relief from the dismal pictures they delight to present; people are just hungry for something hopeful, something merry and thought distracting.

Surely we, the people, cannot be expected to spend all of our leisure time in the contemplation of atomic bombs and the disasters they would cause if dropped upon our devoted heads. And as for investigations, in following them, we so very frequently come out the same door through which we entered.

Thank heaven for the goddess, Pleasure, and for her ability to call us away from the sordid and unbeautiful things of life and turn our attention to hill climbing, carnivals, festivals, fishing trips and ball games. These means of mental relaxation were never more sorely needed; by all means, turn from those who are prating of war and bombs and bigger and better means of human slaughter; turn the dial and spend the evening enjoying a good ball game. It will do you good; I know.

I rejoice that our Nevada county newspapers have so many interesting and pleasurable things to offer their reading public. I'm sure that we all rejoice to know that our editors have the interests, the work and the amusements of our wonderful county at heart and that they generously report all phases of our civic life.

We were all thrilled by the saving of the school house at French Corral, then came the Cherry Carnival and now within a few days, Nevada City will be in the midst of a great Fourth of July Celebration. Let's all attend the varying sessions and let's have fun.

Nevada City never fails to be a gracious hostess and you will find about everything that goes to the making of a lovely modern city in our Queen City of the hills, Nevada.

Western winds are ever straying
Through her groves of whispering pine,
Golden memories link her present
With the days of Forty-Nine.
Like a queen she stands sedately
By her rippling snow-born rills,
Beautiful Nevada City—
City of the seven hills.

CANCER FUND DRIVE SCHEDULED FOR JULY

Appointment of H. A. Curnow, manager of the Nevada City branch of the Bank of America, as campaign manager for the 1950 cancer crusade of the American Cancer Society in Nevada county has been announced by H. D. Collier, California campaign chairman, and Major General William S. Donovan, national campaign chairman.

Wesley B. Donnenwirth, representative of Standard Oil company of California, has been named by Curnow to lead the drive in the Grass Valley district, and A. R. Keeny, assistant cashier, Nevada City branch of the Bank of America, has been selected as county treasurer.

Collier said "The goal of the campaign in which Curnow will play such a vital part is to save lives. The stakes are large. Statisticians of the American Cancer Society estimate that if present rates continue some twenty-two million Americans alive today—one of every eight — eventually will die of cancer."

The campaign for funds in Nevada county has been set for July with a quota of $1,575. Contributions should be made or mailed to either Curnow, Nevada City, or Donnenwirth, Grass Valley.

ATHLETICS AT AUBURN TONIGHT AGAINST CUBS

Manager Steve Pelayo and his Nevada City Athletics travel to Auburn tonight for an 8:30 game with the Auburn Cubs in a regularly scheduled Placer-Nevada baseball league game.

The team will leave at 6:30. Pelayo announced Lynn Roath as the starting pitcher tonight and he expects to have Carl Fisher on hand for relief duty. The lineup will probably be the same as the one that started against the Lincoln Potters here last Sunday.

Pelayo was named to manage the northern all-star team in the annual all-star game which will be played in Auburn Tuesday, July 11. L. A. Carter of Folsom will manager the southern team.

The hopes of the Athletics for a championship during the second half received a severe jolt when the team played dead from the word go last Sunday here against the Lincoln Potters and took a 15-5 drubbing.

For the fifth time this year the local team blew the duke in the stretch to lose the game. With a tied 4-4 score in the sixth inning Potter batting power and listless Athletic fielding turned the tide to the visitors.

Three hits off Roath, two errors and a walk spotted the Potters three runs in the first inning. Deward's double gained back two of them in the bottom half of the inning.

The Athletics blew several golden opportunities for runs. In the sixth two runners in scoring position were left stranded when the power end of the batting order popped up feebly one, two, three.

In the second inning Babe Childers, gun-shy after stopping one of Hartman's fast ones in Roseville, came to bat with the bases loaded and two out. After Umpire Valdon gave him life twice on called balls Babe swung at one in the dirt to retire the side. Jake Goldsberry, first man up in the next inning powdered a home run into the centerfield bleachers. Ainsley Fouyer a few minutes later drove Carnesecca from the box with a home run into left field.

The Athletics had a 4-3 lead but not for long. The Potters tied it up in the fourth inning and that's the way it stayed until the sixth inning. During the last four inning the Potters gathered 11 runs while the home team futiles picked up one.

COMMISSION URGES AIRPORT FACILITIES

Recommendation that present facilities at the Nevada City airport be expanded at once to provide rest rooms for transients and airport personnel were urged in a detailed report filed by the airport commission comprising H. J. Ray, Miles D. Coughlin and William Swain.

Improvements will be financed from state funds derived from aviation gasoline taxes and from matching federal airport monies.

As the only municipally owned airport in Nevada county, the field is entitled to 50 percent of the county's apportionment of gas tax monies, according to the commission.

Other recommendations in the report included repairing and surfacing of runways, treatment of roads and parking areas to reduce erosion and dust, and a survey be made for a 4,000-foot runway, and that the submitted report be reviewed annually.

Lookin' Around

At Cherokee Creek the road ends. You step out of your car ready to stretch and take in a big lung-full of that fine mountain air. But you don't because the air is filled with lady-bugs on the wing. Never have I seen such a phenomena of insect life. In this secluded spot beside running water, tree trunks, stumps, and mossy rocks were covered solid red with lady-bugs and the air was so thick with them that you breathed with caution.

But "Lady-Bug Glen" is fortunately a very restricted area and we soon found a point of flat rocks which jutted into the Yuba, an ideal picnic spot. As we ate, Dow and I speculated on a life-raft excursion down the Yuba to Bullards Bar reservoir and inspected the nearby rapids with more bravado than good sense. It still sounds like a thrilling experiment in adventure. Does anybody in the audience know the history of rapids-running on this stream?

Hiking down a good trail, we found the ancient rock-piles of Herculean gravel-washing effort. On the map the place is marked Cut-Eye Foster's Bar. What can the historians tell us about this place? Dad paused beside a fern-filled grotti and breathed "If you had nothing to do but sit and dream this would be heaven."

Maybe that's what we are looking for: places where we can sit and dream. The world has so few of those places left. And even when we see them for a fleeting moment, they become pleasant memories to store away when "civilized" life becomes frustration and boredom.

OUR CONGRESSMAN REPORTS:

By CLAIR ENGLE

Mining Moratorium Clarified

The senate last week passed and sent to the White House the bill, H. R. 6406, clarifying the procedure for obtaining the benefit of last year's moratorium law. Under that law, a miner who had already done his work before the law was passed could claim credit on it for this year. However, because of an ambiguity in the language, a question was raised as to the procedure which should be followed. It was claimed that in order to take advantage of the provision permitting those who had done their work to claim credit against the year ending July 1, 1950, that the miner had to give notice of intention to claim credit by Aug. 1, 1949. I never believed that this was the correct interpretation, but in order to remove any doubt, I introduced a bill, H. R. 6406, which provides that a statement of labor performed or improvements made on any mining claim in the year ending July 1, 1949, may be made by noon, July 1, 1950, or included in the annual notice of the performance of assessment work for the year ending July 1, 1950. This makes it perfectly plain that a miner who did his work last year before the moratorium was granted has until July 1, 1950, to take credit for it on the work required this year. The bill was not amended in the senate and the language of the law will be identical with that set forth in the bill.

JONES BAR NATIVE DIES IN 93D YEAR

Funeral services were held in Grass Valley's St. Patrick's Catholic church Monday morning for Mrs. Sarah Nugent, 92, who died Thursday morning, last week. Interment was in the Catholic cemetery, Grass Valley.

Mrs. Nugent was born at Jones Bar on the banks of the South Yuba river, Feb. 4, 1858. After her marriage in 1874 the family lived at Sweetland and North Bloomfield during the height of the hydraulic mining. For the past 44 years she had lived in Grass Valley.

Surviving are a son, Sylvester Nugent, Grass Valley; daughters, Mrs. Sarah Reeder, Nevada City; Mrs. Margaret Valdez, Sacramento; and Mrs. Mary Van Doorn, Stockton.

Darrell Paddock, 52, has been awarded $6,300 damages by industrial accident commission for injuries received in 1948 while employed as superintendent at the Robert Newsome lumber company. Albert Johnson, Nevada City attorney, represented the plaintiff.

Nevada County Sheriff's Posse had a spaghetti dinner Wednesday evening at Gold Nugget Inn, at which time plans were made to participate in the Fourth of July Centennial Celebration. Approximately 35 persons attended the dinner presided over by E. L. "Bud" Kyle, president.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Adams of Livingston were visitors at The Nugget office Monday. "Bert" has been editor-publisher of the Livingston Chronicle for 35 years, recently sold it to aid in the Boddy-for-Senator campaign. After the election, Mr. and Mrs. Adams took a long-delayed vacation trip.

WRITS OF PROHIBITING DESTRUCTION DENIED

Decision denying writs of prohibition against destruction of slot machines asked by three tavern operators of Nevada county was filed Friday by Warren Steel, superior court judge of Yuba county. The writs asked to have the machines spared from destruction by peace officers and returned to their owners.

The writs were filed by Crofford W. Bridges, Grass Valley attorney, in behalf of A. Tick, Albert Belleque, Frank Mertens and Mr. and Mrs. William Hess.

DEADMAN'S CURVE CLAIMS ANOTHER

Deadman's Curve, south of the Bear river bridge on highway 49, claimed the life of Vincent F. O'Donnell, 39, Sacramento, late Monday afternoon when he failed to make a turn while driving to Grass Valley at a high rate of speed.

His vehicle rode the outside shoulder for 300 feet, ripped into a number of warning guide posts, broke off a four-by-four farmer line telephone pole and crashed into an oak tree with terrific force. He was dead on arrival at an Auburn hospital.

He is survived by his wife, Ruth.
